BLIZZARD BLOCKS BUSINESS

Trains Tied Up for Three Days—Great Damage Done.

Norfolk, Neb., Feb. 10.—Traffic and all business in northern Nebraska, South Dakota, the Black Hills and northern Wyoming was abandoned from Monday night until noon today because of the worst blizzard of 20 years. The snowfall, which amounted to four inches in Norfolk, increased westward into the Black Hills and Wyoming, where it reached 10 inches on the level.

A 40 to 50-mile wind drifted the snow many feet deep in many places. Temperatures ranged from 8 to 20 below zero. Telegraph and telephone lines all over this territory were prostrated. Not a train wheel moved on any of the five lines radiating from this city, nor over this entire territory, 700 miles across, between midnight Monday night and 6 o'clock this morning. The first time in 20 years a Norfolk daily paper on account of the weather was forced to abandon its edition for the day.

Near Plainview, Herman Taylor, a prominent stockman, became exhausted while caring for his herd and perished from exposure. Many cattle froze to death en route to market.

Congressman McGuire Still Opposes.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The democratic members of the Oklahoma delegation held a meeting this morning and resolved to push the bill recently introduced to close up the affairs of the Five Tribes. Mr. McGuire, the only republican member of the delegation, still refuses to support the bill. In any event there is no chance that this measure will pass at this session.

GAS STOVES ARE THE CAUSE

Particulars of Death of Senator Johnson—O. A. Smith's Life also Endangered.

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 10.—As a result of a leaky natural gas stove in their sleeping apartments, Dr. George O. Johnson of Fort Cobb one of the most popular members of the Oklahoma state senate, is dead, and Senator P. J. Yeager of Tulsa, who occupied the room with him is in a serious condition from the toxic effect of the gas fumes.

The senators occupied a room in a home on East Noble avenue. It was Senator Yeager's custom to arise about 6 o'clock every morning light the gas in a heater and return to bed until the apartment became warm. This morning he did so, but in turning the valve to adjust the blaze it is presumed he turned it out and then on part way again, not sufficiently, however, to then attract attention and believing it was still lighted he crawled between the covers for another nap.

The natural gas under heavy pressure poured into the room. Senator Yeager quickly fell asleep only to be aroused about an hour later by groans from Senator Johnson, who was rapidly yielding to the gas poison. Somewhat dazed, Senator Yeager staggered from his bed and attempted to get fresh air by raising a window. Then, reaching the door and being unable to unlock it, hammered with his hands until other occupants of the house burst it open.

The two men were carried into the open air, where Senator Yeager was restored, but Senator Johnson failed to respond and expired about 9:15. Physicians pronounced death due to asphyxiation.

Senator Yeager's fewer years is believed to have saved him from death.

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 10.—O. A. Smith, an official in the State School Land department was found in his room yesterday morning suffering from gas poisoning and a short time later would have been beyond aid. Mr. Smith had lighted a gas stove to

SHAWNEE GETS COUNTY SEAT

Shawnee, Ok., Feb. 10.—Shawnee today won the county seat of Pottawatomie county from Tecumseh in the fiercest struggle yet recorded in Oklahoma. Almost 8,000 votes were cast. The law requires 60 per cent of the entire vote to remove the county seat.

A feature of the campaign was the presence of a squad of detectives hired by Tecumseh to watch the campaign managers at Shawnee. Fifty-one voting precincts were attended by representatives of both cities.

For more than a month meetings have been held nightly in at least twenty places in the county.

Numerous fights, but no bloodshed, resulted. Today every business house in both towns closed to enable the employees to get out other voters. Tonight Shawnee is celebrating her victory with street parades and public meetings.

ONE MASONIC GRAND LODGE.

The Membership About 20,000—New Constitution Adopted.

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 10.—The Masonic grand lodge of Oklahoma was organized here today by merging of the grand lodges of Indian Territory and Oklahoma Territory.

Indian Territory delegates arrived by special train from McAlester this morning and it was estimated that 1,800 affiliated Masons were in attendance.

The new grand lodge will have a membership of about 20,000. In addition to adopting a new constitution, which had been prepared by a special committee, the following officers were elected: Grand master, H. L. Muldrow of Tishomingo; deputy grand master, George M. Ruddell of Weatherford; senior grand warden, A. Eddleman of Marietta; junior grand warden, Charles R. Cook of Snyder; grand treasurer, Leo Bennett of Muskogee; grand secretaries, J. S. Murrow of Atoka and Mose Anderson of Waurika. Place of the next meeting will be determined tomorrow McAlester and Guthrie being the candidates.

Grand master—H. L. Muldrow, Tishomingo.

Deputy Grand Master—George Ruddell, Weatherford.

Senior Grand Warden—Alexis Eddleman, Marietta.

Grand Treasurer—Leo E. Bennett, Muskogee.

Grand Secretaries—J. S. Murrow of Atoka, William M. Anderson of Oklahoma City.

Grand Lecturer—William R. Brown, El Reno.

Grand Orator—William S. Talmage, McAlester.

ASPHALT COMING MATERIAL

Roads Constructed of It Will Prove the Best.

Oklahoma City, Feb. 11.—"Oklahoma asphalt is the best road building material in the world.

"Oklahoma's supply of asphaltum is inexhaustible. I expect that new sources of it will be found for 100 years to come.

"You men here who are middle-aged will see the day when half the roads—not the city streets, but the ordinary country roads—in southern Oklahoma and northern Texas will be of pure asphalt.

"Oklahoma has plenty of limestone within its boundaries—the best sort of road building material. I believe that our mountains of gypsum will be used to make roads. Mix gypsum with sand and sprinkle it with oil and haven't you got asphalt or something close to it? We are experimenting today; tomorrow our children will have the best roads in America."

These are some of the things that Prof. C. N. Gould, the state geologist, told the meeting of the Oklahoma state Good Roads association and the Federation of Commercial clubs in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon. His talk on road building material in Oklahoma was the feature of the first day's session. Professor Gould showed that, whatever man might accomplish toward good roads in Oklahoma, nature had already done more than its part.

OKLAHOMA CENTRAL IS READY

Willing to Build Into Ada and Suggests a Plan to Do So.

Dorset Carter, chief executive officer of the Oklahoma Central railroad, writes Mayor Harrison as follows, relative to that road entering Ada and providing terminals.

While the Oklahoma Central is willing to come into Ada the plan proposed, leaves it up to the citizens here to advance the money for that purpose.

Mr. Geo. A. Harrison, Mayor, Ada, Oklahoma. Dear Sir:—I am today in receipt of copy of complaint filed before the Corporation Commission of Oklahoma on behalf of the city of Ada against the Oklahoma Central Railway company.

The substance of this complaint is you ask the commission to compel us to build a line of road into your city; you don't know how anxious we are to comply with your request and wish we were financially able to do so. As to the action of the corporation commission—we have no fears but what you will be unsuccessful in your efforts and they will sustain a demurrer to your petition but, regardless of that, I wish to assure you we would like very much to enter your city.

I have intended to come down to talk to you gentlemen along a feasible proposition by which we might build into the city, provided, it was accepted by you. It would take about fifteen thousand dollars for us to build into your city, establish terminals, depot, etc. and I believe we could get the Federal court to authorize the receiver to issue certificates, bearing six per cent interest for this purpose which would constitute a first lien upon the line built and which would be payable on freight originating, or destined, to your city, that is taking for instance the cement plant would agree to take twenty-five hundred dollars in these certificates, if, after the line was constructed, they should tender us freight or we deliver them freight we would accept these certificates in payment of that freight for the portion of the freight which our road earned and likewise with any other party in the city who might purchase these certificates; we would make the certificates in any denomination satisfactory to you people and they would be transferable by delivery. It seems to me this would be a safe proposition to you people and judging from the amount of business your city does, if shippers were so disposed, money could be collected back from us within ninety days time after road put into operation.

JAP LEGISLATION RECONSIDERED

California Legislature Complies With President's Request.

Sacramento, Feb. 10.—Yielding to the pressure brought to bear by President Roosevelt and Governor Gillett, the California assembly retired from its previous position on the anti-Japanese matters today, reconsidering the former vote on the segregation of Japanese students in the public school and finally rejected the measure by a vote of 41 to 37. An effort by the supporters of the bill further to reconsider, was lost by a tie vote and the assembly is now clear of any anti-Japanese measure objected to by the national administration.

EASTERN GULLIBILITY.

Oklahoman.

Several Eastern newspapers, invariably republican in politics or under false colors serving the interests, assume that Governor Haskell's indictment at Muskogee is equivalent to proven guilt and do not neglect to convey the impression that Oklahoma's chief executive is rolling in ill-gotten wealth.

The readiness with which such insinuations are accepted for truth is causing western faith in eastern intelligence to wane. Eastern gullibility has, in fact, been proven during the last two years by the eagerness with which the most extravagant stories relative to Oklahoma and its public men have been absorbed as gospel truth. It were laughable if it were not so regretfully damaging.

Governor Haskell does not look the frenzied financier, the industrial pirate, or the prosperous land shark, that the eastern press is representing, or insinuating, him to be. His residence quarters are not palatial; like Thomas Jefferson his journeys to and from the capital are after the manner of the humblest citizen, his apparel is no better and no worse than that of the ordinary physician, barrister or minister; he does not wear the flashy attire and the sparkling diamonds which are popularly associated with the men whose exploitations secure to them a rich harvest of "other people's money." Indeed, his daily life is characterized by simplicity and lack of ostentation, while his personal habits are without reproach.

Such is a brief and truthful word picture of C. N. Haskell, governor of the grand new state of Oklahoma, whose character the millionaire proprietor of a New York newspaper and the president of the United States are attempting to destroy from partisan vindictiveness.

It is not entirely out of the range of possibility that Governor Haskell is all that his political enemies would have the public believe, but in his daily life he does not act the role and the people of Oklahoma do not believe that he is other than that which he appears to be.

Supposed to Be It's Death Knell.

Washington, Feb. 10.—A joint resolution offered by Senator Beveridge providing that the postmaster general should establish a rural parcels post system in four counties of some state, as an experiment, caused the general plan for a parcels post to get a severe jolt today. This experiment was expected to be an opening wedge for a general parcels post system, if it proved success. When the resolution was read it was ordered to lie upon the table. This is the senatorial way of preaching a funeral over documents.

PRAYER AND PRAISE.

Concerning the Patience of the Saints.

We mourn sometimes because we grow slowly in the Christian life—that our faith and love and patience are so feeble. But channel-beds are deepened merely by the flow of the waters through them, and even so just trusting God today as we did yesterday, just meeting this week's cares with the quietude we exercised last week, just going on in the ordinary way, is really deepening our knowledge of God and our faith in Him.

We ask for the marvelous, the seen. Some of the things for which we pray we are sure can never come to pass without miracle. Yet, as a rule, God's answers to our petitions come in quiet, unexpected ways, without bluster of apparent wonder-working. Highest processes are apt to be noiseless, best results unperceived in their approach. We grow naturally, as plants and children grow naturally, by just taking what comes day by day and thinking little about growth, by bearing this little burden, learning that little lesson, by absorbing light and love and air hour by hour in the measure it is allotted to us. And the end? It will be nothing less than the miraculous for which we longed, when we awake some day in His likeness—who have been such common clay, molded by such common processes and under such common-place circumstances.

No choice positions were ours. The kitchen, the nursery, the school-room, the sick-chamber, the workshop—these were the places where we took form and shape: in these the Master Sculptor found His studio. At times we felt the touch of chisel and mallet, and the hurt, but we could not stop to mourn or to complain. Baby had to be fed, mother must be helped, the invalid made happy—the dress, the hat, must be finished for the customer. And so with headache, and sometimes heartache, we wrought on, not knowing that our patient steps and lullabies and stiches, the gay little speeches and thrills we so determinedly cultivated, were helping to mould the common clay of our common lives into a form like unto that of the Son of God.

What surprises await us! For we shall all get out of the commonplace some time. There's a chariot waiting to bear each of us to the King's presence-chamber some day. And then when we look into His face—forgetful of the failures and denials of the days forever done—a sense of Home-coming, of having at last reached our own, will fill us, overflow us. "We shall awake" from earthly day dreaming to find ourselves—ourselves!—"in His likeness satisfied."

Oh, the soundless depths of that word, "satisfied!" No earth-trammelled tongue has yet been able to give it full music or meaning. Untranslatable and unutterable here, none of us have realized what it is to be "satisfied." Nor do we need to know—yet. It is not ours. But today is ours. We must wrestle with its actualities, bear its burdens, accept what it brings us. For all that comes is sent and, therefore, necessary to the development of a son, a daughter of God. Herein lies the Patience of the Saints.

WILL NOT BUILD PIPE LINE

Washington, Feb. 10.—The Standard oil company will not build its proposed pipe lines from the mid-continent to the gulf, if it has to do so with any attendant obligations to President Roosevelt or Secretary Garfield. This developed in the committee on Indian affairs, when legislation for Oklahoma was under consideration. When the representatives of the oil interests found that the president and secretary of the interior were being consulted in the matter they promptly announced that they would have nothing further to do with the matter.

The Standard Oil company had a lobbyist here and he devoted his attention exclusively to the matter of getting in the Indian bill a provision that would direct the secretary of the interior to do what he flatly refused to do sometime ago, namely, permit the building of pipe lines across Indian lands without it accepting the terms of common carrier, and other conditions giving the secretary control over the pipe line after it is constructed. Some of the members of the Indian committee went to the secretary of the interior and got his consent to this, he seeing that congress would then have to assume the responsibility for such action.

The president was also consulted and his consent obtained. As soon as this was learned the oil men who were here pushing the matter, and who admitted that the Standard would be the beneficiary of such legislation withdrew and said they would not press the matter further. The lobbyist representing the Standard left town and the matter was permanently dropped.

The proposed legislation was favored by some members of the Indian committee at last. They understood that the Standard would be the first to take advantage of it, but it did not preclude other companies and would have afforded relief to the oil producers. The members of the committee were greatly surprised at the withdrawal of the proposed clause in the bill.

MANUFACTURING OF CEMENT

AND ITS RELATION TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF OKLAHOMA.

Early History of Cement, by L. W. Whitaker Before the Convention at Oklahoma City.

This cement was burned in upright kilns, and a whole battery of these kilns were still standing when I saw them about 2 1-2 years ago.

The first large work to employ Saylor American Portland cement was the Eds jetties along the Mississippi river and the first large building, was the Drexel building of Philadelphia.

From this little beginning, one of the largest industries in the United States has grown—American Portland cement is now superior to any produced in the world.

About 1872 the Eagle Portland Cement Co., of Kalamazoo, Mich., composed of Chicago gentlemen, took form and they produced a good cement from marl and clay. Some of the sidewalks made of this cement are still in use. The mill closed down in 1882, not being able to manufacture at a profit though the selling price was $4.00 to $4.25 per barrel.

At South Bend, Ind., a plant was started in 1877 using marl and clay.

In 1883, Robert W. Lesley, the first and present president of the American Portland Cement commenced the manufacture of Portland Cement near Coplay. John W. Eckert was his first chemist, and both of these gentlemen are at present connected with the same company. It was through Mr. Eckert that the proper chemical proportions were secured and a properly combined Portland Cement produced.

Next came the Atlas and Bonneville plants, followed by the Whitaker, the present Alpha, located near Phillipsburg, N. J. And from this on the business has increased by leaps and bounds. Mills springing up in all sections of the United States.

Composition of Portland Cement.

Certain laws have been developed which govern the chemical as well as the physical properties of Portland cement. The chemical composition of American Portland Cements are confined within narrow limits, the average being:

Silica, 22 per cent.
Iron Oxide, 2.5 per cent.
Alumina, 7.5 per cent.
Lime, 62 per cent.
Magnesia, 2.5 per cent.
Sulphur Trioxide, 1.5 per cent.

This cement is the product resulting from grinding to a required fineness, the semi-fused, properly proportioned and properly prepared mixture of argillaceous and calcareous materials.

Portland Cement can be made from many apparently different substances. The lime content can be secured from limestone, chalk, marl, oyster shells, etc. while the silica, iron and alumina can be secured from certain clays, shales, slag, etc.

In the Lehigh District of Pennsylvania, especially they have what they term Cement Rock in many instances it contains argillaceous and calcareous ingredients in exact proportions, without any other addition.

Manufacture of Portland Cement.

Two principal methods are used for the manufacture of Portland Cement, the wet and the dry process, and to a small extent, the semi-dry process.

The wet process usually employs marl for the lime content and a blue clay for their Silica, from and alumina contents.

The marl, dug frequently by means of a dredge, and after separating the foreign substances, the clay, sometimes dry and sometimes wet is added and then mixed together through a pug mill or other device, and on to certain correction tanks and during the process is finely pulverized in tube mills.

This substance is called slurry and usually contains 60 to 65 per cent of water, this amount being necessary to permit the slurry to be readily pumped and handled, and is now ready to be fed into the kilns. From now on until reaching the finished product all methods have the same object in view.

The semi-wet advocate dry their material first then add a quantity of water to the mix, claiming the resulting mixture is more uniform than the Dry Process.

The dry process is the most general, and the one used by the largest Portland Cement plants in the United States.

This process requires the rock to be broken down by crushers or other devices, granulated and then mixed with the proper proportions of clay or shale, which has already been dried, and this mixture in the most up to date plants, is made by weight, then finely pulverized, and the mixing continues after the material is fed into the kilns and really continues until the chemical action has taken place.

Right here I wish to say the finer the raw material is pulverized and the better they are mixed, the better the resultant cement.

The rotary kiln is universally used having driven the upright kiln out of existence, giving a more uniform result, and greater capacity.

Rotary kilns vary greatly in size; only a few years ago I well remember seeing a kiln 40 feet long, a wonder; then came the 60 ft. by 6 ft. diameter kiln, and now the average size of those installed during the past two years will be about 7 or 8 feet in diameter by 100 feet in length. These kilns are lined throughout with fine brick and carried on heavy trunnions, and are caused to rotate during the process; being placed in an inclined position of say 1-4 to 3-4 inch per foot. The kiln speed varies according to the individual idea of the operators, from about 1 1-3 revolutions per minute to 1 revolution.

The rotating of the kiln which is nothing but a tube, causes the material to gradually travel from the feed end, the higher end, on through to the discharge end. And in doing so it comes in contact with intense heat some 2700 degrees Fahrenheit, this temperature varies, according to the chemical composition of the raw material, all other conditions being equal.

The temperature required is secured by forcing pulverized coal into the kiln by means of air under pressure; the coal instantly turns into a gas and creates intense heat. Others use fuel oil, and in a limited area, natural gas. I know of no plant at present using Producer Gas.

The heat you will notice, travels in the opposite direction to the material being burned, the zone of greatest heat being from 10 to 20 feet from front or fire end of kiln.

It may be of interest right here to state that nearly 40 per cent by actual weight of the raw material, which enters at the feed end, is lost during transit through the kiln, in the form of gases and dust.

The chemical action on raw material by this intense heat produces what we term, clinker. This clinker leaves the kiln very hot and is cooled by several processes; when cooled, its color is a greenish black, and the specific gravity has changed in the raw material from about 2.70 to 3.20 for the clinker.

The clinker is now broken down by several processes to final pulverization, which gives us the finished product, Portland Cement, and according to specifications, 92 per cent must pass through the 100 mesh sieve and 75 per cent through the 200 mesh sieve.

(Wires for 100 m.—.0945 in. diameter.)
(Wires for 200 m.—.0024 in. diameter.)

It is a conceded fact by all the best authorities and proven by tests which any individual user of Portland cement can make himself, that the finer the cement is ground, the better the resulting cement will be for actual work.

The tendency during the past 10 years in the United States has been to grind a finer product, and today there are a few plants grinding so fine that 85 per cent of the cement will pass a 200 mesh sieve, giving the users of these finely ground cements the equivalent of 38 pounds of material, possessing cementing qualities, over cement ground to 75 per cent through 200 mesh sieve.

Development of Oklahoma.

Oklahoma, being the youngest of all the states, has a great advantage over

O. K.

Meat Market

Fish and Sealship Oysters

Always on hand. The best in the market

the older states in many respects, especially since Portland Cement has made such wonderful strides.

The railroads, which are the arteries of commerce throughout the width and breadth of this new state, can be built safer, the bridges made everlasting, and once a culvert or bridge is properly built of Portland cement concrete, the ponderous locomotive with its precious load of human lives is rushed along over these concrete bridges with the same speed and safety as when running across the open prairie.

Each farmer in this broad land spends, yes uselessly wastes, money each year that would soon make him independent. Why don't he use everlasting fence posts, concrete storm and root cellars, and why don't he build concrete silos? These are needed by our farmers and each step adds to the individual and collective wealth. And there is no better way a state can secure great influence. And each and every city and town have now at their command, for both present and future building requirements, the most flexible, permanent and last of all the most fireproof building material, Portland Cement Concrete, this fact having been fully demonstrated in the great conflagrations of Baltimore and San Francisco and the universal use of concrete in the rebuilding of these cities is further evidence of the faith had in this building material.

Our cities can be held together by means of cement, our sidewalks, curbs gutters and streets be of solid concrete, while our fireproof buildings rear their heads far above the street.

And in close proximity to these cities and towns using cement we usually find and always within the borders of our new state, the materials required for any class of concrete, sand, stone gravel etc., as well as the Portland Cement. All these being found and used within our borders the use of these creates a local demand for skilled and unskilled labor. This means added wealth by keeping the money home instead of sending it elsewhere. This thought has been

and much more easy to take care of—affording you ease and comfort at the same time—is an investment in one of our many real estate bargains in cottages in the suburbs of Ada or city homes, farm lands, etc., which we are selling at such low prices and on easy terms.

clearly stated by Prof. Gould who says, "One million is a good deal of money, but this is the estimated amount that the people of Oklahoma sent to Kansas last year for two products that might just as well been manufactured at home.

These two products are pressed brick and Portland Cement. "No wonder the Kansas banks are full of deposits and taxes are about one-half as much as in Oklahoma." We send our good money to Kansas for things we might as well make at home, and then wonder why taxes are so high.

Now in order to build up our state why should we not use our own product as much as possible, it being understood they are the equal of any.

I dare say there are thousands of citizens of Oklahoma who do not know their own state has two modern Portland Cement plants in operation—well you have—and with ample capacity to supply the entire requirements of our state.

And to the Oklahoma users of Portland cement here assembled allow me to impress upon you one vital point. On you rests the greater part of this task of building our state on a firm and everlasting foundation—may you make no mistakes, as our new state forges ahead, every step in advancement will be watched by others and soon we will have the greatest state in the union.

BLIZZARD BLOCKS BUSINESS

Trains Tied Up for Three Days—Great Damage Done.

Norfolk, Neb., Feb. 10.—Traffic and all business in northern Nebraska, South Dakota, the Black Hills and northern Wyoming, was abandoned from Monday night until noon today because of the worst blizzard of 20 years. The snowfall, which amounted to four inches in Norfolk, increased westward into the Black Hills and Wyoming, where it reached 10 inches on the level.

A 10 to 30-mile wind drifted the snow many feet deep in many places. Temperatures ranged from 8 to 20 below zero. Telegraph and telephone lines all over this territory were prostrated. Not a train wheel moved on any of the five lines radiating from this city, nor over this entire territory, 700 miles across, between midnight Monday night and 6 o'clock this morning. The first time in 20 years a Norfolk daily paper on account of the weather was forced to abandon its edition for the day.

Near Plainview, Herman Taylor, a prominent stockman, became exhausted while caring for his herd and perished from exposure. Many cattle froze to death on route to market.

Congressman McGuire Still Opposes.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The democratic members of the Oklahoma delegation held a meeting this morning and resolved to push the bill recently introduced to close up the affairs of the Five Tribes. Mr. McGuire, the only republican member of the delegation, still refuses to support the bill. In any event there is no chance that this measure will pass at this session.

GAS STOVES ARE THE CAUSE

Particulars of Death of Senator Johnson—O. A. Smith's Life also Endangered.

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 10.—As a result of a leaky natural gas stove in their sleeping apartments, Dr. George O. Johnson of Fort Cobb one of the most popular members of the Oklahoma state senate, is dead, and Senator P. J. Yeager of Tulsa, who occupied the room with him is in a serious condition from the toxic effect of the gas fumes.

The senators occupied a room in a house on East Noble avenue. It was Senator Yeager's custom to arise about 6 o'clock every morning light the gas in a heater and return to bed until the apartment became warm. This morning he did so, but in turning the valve to adjust the blaze it is presumed he turned it out and then on part way again, not sufficiently, however, to then attract attention and believing it was still lighted he crawled between the covers for another nap.

The natural gas under heavy pressure poured into the room. Senator Yeager quickly fell asleep only to be aroused about an hour later by groans from Senator Johnson, who was rapidly yielding to the gas poison. Somewhat dazed, Senator Yeager staggered from his bed and attempted to get fresh air by raising a window. Then, reaching the door and being unable to unlock it, hammered with his hands until other occupants of the house burst it open.

The two men were carried into the open air, where Senator Yeager was restored, but Senator Johnson failed to respond and expired about 9:15. Physicians pronounced death due to asphyxiation.

Senator Yeager's fewer years is believed to have saved him from death.

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 10.—O. A. Smith, an official in the State School Land department was found in his room yesterday morning suffering from gas poisoning and a short time later would have been beyond aid. Mr. Smith had lighted a gas stove to

SHAWNEE GETS COUNTY SEAT

Shawnee, Ok., Feb. 10.—Shawnee today won the county seat of Pottawatomie county from Tecumseh in the fiercest struggle yet recorded in Oklahoma. Almost 8,000 votes were cast. The law requires 60 per cent of the entire vote to remove the county seat. A feature of the campaign was the presence of a squad of detectives hired by Tecumseh to watch the campaign managers at Shawnee. Fifty-one voting precincts were attended by representatives of both cities.

For more than a month meetings have been held nightly in at least twenty places in the county.

Numerous fights, but no bloodshed, resulted. Today every business house in both towns closed to enable the employees to get out other voters. Tonight Shawnee is celebrating her victory with street parades and public meetings.

ONE MASONIC GRAND LODGE.

The Membership About 20,000—New Constitution Adopted.

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 10.—The Masonic grand lodge of Oklahoma was organized here today by merging of the grand lodges of Indian Territory and Oklahoma Territory.

Indian Territory delegates arrived by special train from McAlester this morning and it was estimated that 1,500 affiliated Masons were in attendance.

The new grand lodge will have a membership of about 20,000. In addition to adopting a new constitution, which had been prepared by a special committee, the following officers were elected: Grand master, H. L. Muldrow of Tishomingo; deputy grand master, George M. Ruddell of Weatherford; senior grand warden, A. Eddleman of Marietta; junior grand warden, Charles R. Cook of Snyder; grand treasurer, Leo Bennett of Muskogee; grand secretaries, J. S. Murrow of Atoka and Mose Anderson of Waurika. Place of the next meeting will be determined tomorrow. McAlester and Guthrie being the candidates.

Grand master—H. L. Muldrow, Tishomingo.

Deputy Grand Master—George Ruddell, Weatherford.

Senior Grand Warden—Alexis Eddleman, Marietta.

Grand Treasurer—Leo E. Bennett, Muskogee.

Grand Secretaries—J. S. Murrow of Atoka, William M. Anderson of Oklahoma City.

Grand Lecturer—William R. Brown, El Reno.

Grand Orator—William S. Talmage, McAlester.

ASPHALT COMING MATERIAL

Roads Constructed of It Will Prove the Best.

Oklahoma City, Feb. 11.—"Oklahoma asphalt is the best road building material in the world."

"Oklahoma's supply of asphaltum is inexhaustible. I expect that new sources of it will be found for 100 years to come."

"You men here who are middle-aged will see the day when half the roads—not the city streets, but the ordinary country roads—in southern Oklahoma and northern Texas will be of pure asphalt."

"Oklahoma has plenty of limestone within its boundaries—the best sort of road building material. I believe that our mountains of gypsum will be used to make roads. Mix gypsum with sand and sprinkle it with oil and haven't you got asphalt or something close to it? We are experimenting today; tomorrow our children will have the best roads in America."

These are some of the things that Prof. C. N. Gould, the state geologist, told the meeting of the Oklahoma state Good Roads association and the Federation of Commercial clubs in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon. His talk on road building material in Oklahoma was the feature of the first day's session. Professor Gould showed that, whatever man might accomplish toward good roads in Oklahoma, nature had already done more than its part.

OKLAHOMA CENTRAL IS READY

Willing to Build Into Ada and Suggests a Plan to Do So.

Dorset Carter, chief executive officer of the Oklahoma Central railroad, writes Mayor Harrison as follows, relative to that road entering Ada and providing terminals.

While the Oklahoma Central is willing to come into Ada the plan proposed, leaves it up to the citizens here to advance the money for that purpose.

Mr. Geo. A. Harrison, Mayor, Ada, Oklahoma, Dear Sir:—I am today in receipt of copy of complaint filed before the Corporation Commission of Oklahoma on behalf of the city of Ada against the Oklahoma Central Railway company.

The substance of this complaint is you ask the commission to compel us to build a line of road into your city; you don't know how anxious we are to comply with your request and wish we were financially able to do so. As to the action of the corporation commission—we have no fears but what you will be unsuccessful in your efforts and they will sustain a demurrer to your petition but, regardless of that, I wish to assure you we would like very much to enter your city.

I have intended to come down to talk to you gentlemen along a feasible proposition by which we might build into the city, provided, it was accepted by you. It would take about fifteen thousand dollars for us to build into your city, establish terminals, depot, etc. and I believe we could get the Federal court to authorize the receiver to issue certificates, bearing six per cent interest for this purpose which would constitute a first lien upon the line built and which would be payable on freight originating, or destined, to your city, that is taking for instance the cement plant would agree to take twenty-five hundred dollars in these certificates. If, after the line was constructed, they should tender as freight or we deliver them freight we would accept these certificates in payment of that freight for the portion of the freight which our road earned and likewise with any other party in the city who might purchase these certificates; we would make the certificates in any denomination satisfactory to you people and they would be transferable by delivery. It seems to me this would be a safe proposition to you people and judging from the amount of business your city does, if shippers were so disposed, money could be collected back from us within ninety days time after road put into operation.

JAP LEGISLATION RECONSIDERED

California Legislature Complies With President's Request.

Sacramento, Feb. 10.—Yielding to the pressure brought to bear by President Roosevelt and Governor Gillett, the California assembly retired from its previous position on the anti-Japanese matters today, reconsidering the former vote on the segregation of Japanese students in the public schools and finally rejected the measure by a vote of 41 to 37. An effort by the supporters of the bill further to reconsider, was lost by a tie vote and the assembly is now clear of any anti-Japanese measure objected to by the national administration.

an appeal be made to the citizens to that end.

The letter dated Dec. 29, at sea, ten days out from Cololme, was received yesterday having required over one month to reach the city. Hornbeck says: "Other States have their names honored by ships and lads who man the sister vessels make honored and patriotic demonstrations when the men-of-war bearing the name of their native state comes in view, and although young, we are anxious to see its name on the united roll call. We ask that you give this letter some consideration, if you see your way clear, and all efforts will be appreciated by the boys who protect the flag."

"We have just entered the Red Sea and the heat is terrible, but none of the sturdy lads from Oklahoma have had to be carried on deck. ## EASTERN GULLIBILITY.

Oklahoma. Several Eastern newspapers, invariably republican in politics or under false colors serving the interests, assume that Governor Haskell's indictment at Muskogee is equivalent to proven guilt and do not neglect to convey the impression that Oklahoma's chief executive is rolling in ill-gotten wealth.

The readiness with which such insinuations are accepted for truth is causing western faith in eastern intelligence to wane. Eastern gullibility has, in fact, been proven during the last two years by the eagerness with which the most extravagant stories relative to Oklahoma and its public men have been absorbed as gospel truth. It were laughable if it were not so regrettably damaging.

Governor Haskell does not look the frenzied financier, the industrial pirate or the prosperous land shark, that the eastern press is representing, or insinuating, him to be. His residence quarters are not palatial; like Thomas Jefferson his journeys to and from the capitol are after the manner of the humblest citizen, his apparel is no better and no worse than that of the ordinary physician, barrister or minister, he does not wear the flashy attire and the sparkling diamonds which are popularly associated with the men whose exploitations secure to them a rich harvest of "other people's money." Indeed, his daily life is characterized by simplicity and lack of ostentation, while his personal habits are without reproach.

Such is a brief and truthful word picture of C. N. Haskell, governor of the grand new state of Oklahoma, whose character the millionaire proprietor of a New York newspaper and the president of the United States are attempting to destroy from partisan vindictiveness. It is not entirely out of the range of possibility that Governor Haskell is all that his political enemies would have the public believe, but in his daily life he does not act the role and the people of Oklahoma do not believe that he is other than that which he appears to be.

PRESS COMMENT.

It may be and it may not be that ammunition and supplies are being placed on the Pacific Coast. One thing is certain, however, after our experience in the trouble with Spain these things ought to be in readiness for use without any vexations and possibly costly delays.—Demolition Herald.

Now that an issue of Lincoln stamps has been authorized to familiarize the people with his looks wouldn't it be a good idea to provide a little more popular medium of circulating the features of Andrew Jackson than the $10,000 bill? It has been two or three days since we have seen one of these.—McAlester News-Capital —Press comment.

There is a bill before the senate to repeal the tax ferret law. We know nothing about the bill of this law, but we do know that every man and corporation should give in their entire taxable property for taxes, and if it takes a ferret to find this property, we should have one.—Durant News.

The ruling passion was strong in the eighty-year-old negro man who was killed at Jeffersonville, Ohio, Sunday night about ten o'clock by a passing freight train. A sack containing live chickens found near the spot told the tale of his incursion into the night and into the barnyard—Muskogee Times-Democrat.

STATE CAPITAL LETTER.

Guthrie, Feb. 11.—State Auditor M. E. Trapp is issuing his annual report in printed form. The volume shows a detailed account of the financial transactions of the state and its every department and concludes with the usual estimates from each department on the necessary appropriations to cover running expenses for the biennial period ending June 30th, 1911, and for deficiencies for the period ending June 30th, 1909. These estimates are based on expenditures for the past year.

Supposed to Be It's Death Knell.

Washington, Feb. 10.—A joint resolution offered by Senator Beveridge providing that the postmaster general should establish a rural parcels post system in four counties of some state, as an experiment, caused the general plan for a parcels post to get a severe jolt today. This experiment was expected to be an opening wedge for a general parcels post system, if it proved success. When the resolution was read it was ordered to lie upon the table. This is the senatorial way of preaching a funeral over documents.

PRAYER AND PRAISE.

Concerning the Patience of the Saints.

We mourn sometimes because we grow slowly in the Christian life—that our faith and love and patience are so feeble. But channel-beds are deepened merely by the flow of the waters through them, and even so just trusting God today as we did yesterday, just meeting this week's cares with the quietude we exercised last week, just going on in the ordinary way, is really deepening our knowledge of God and our faith in Him.

We ask for the marvelous, the seen. Some of the things for which we pray we are sure can never come to pass without miracle. Yet, as a rule, God's answers to our petitions come in quiet, unexpected ways, without bluster of apparent wonder-working. Highest processes are apt to be noiseless, best results unperceived in their approach. We grow naturally, as plants and children grow naturally, by just taking what comes day by day and thinking little about growth, by bearing this little burden, learning that little lesson, by absorbing light and love and air hour by hour in the measure it is allotted to us. And the end? It will be nothing less than the marvellous for which we longed, when we awake some day in His likeness—we who have been such common clay, molded by such common processes and under such common-life circumstances.

No choice positions were ours. The kitchen, the nursery, the school-room, the sick-chamber, the workshop—these were the places where we took form and shape; in these the Master Sculptor found His studio. At times we felt the touch of chisel and mallet, and the hurt, but we could not stop to mourn or to complain. Baby had to be fed, mother must be helped, the invalid made happy—the dress, the hat, must be finished for the customer. And so with headache, and sometimes heartache, we wrought on, not knowing that our patient steps and lullabies and trills we so determinedly cultivated, were helping to mould the common clay of our common lives into a form like unto that of the Son of God.

What surprises await us! For we shall all get out of the commonplace some time. There's a chariot waiting to bear each of us to the King's presence-chamber some day. And then when we look into His face—forgetful of the failures and denials of the days forever done—a sense of Home-coming, of having at last reached our own, will fill us, overflow us. "We shall awake" from earth-day dreaming to find ourselves—ourselves—in His likeness satisfied.

Oh the soundless depths of that word, "satisfied!" No earth-trampled tongue has yet been able to give it full music or meaning. Untranslatable and unutterable here, none of us have realized what it is to be "satisfied." Nor do we need to know—yet. It is not ours. But today is ours. We must wrestle with its actualities, bear its burdens, accept what it brings us. For all that comes is sent and, therefore, necessary to the development of a son, a daughter of God. Herein lies the Patience of the Saints.

Delightful Entertainment.

Yesterday evening Mrs. R. S. Tobin entertained the Forty-two club in honor of her mother Mrs. E. J. Mitchell and sister, Miss Vada Mitchell, of Greenville, Texas.

The rooms of Mrs. Tobin's home were beautifully decorated with hearts and evergreens.

During the evening delicious refreshments were served.

A most enjoyable time was had by the large number present as Mrs. Tobin is a charming hostess.

Last night, Mrs. Tobin also entertained the 500 club at which cards were played and refreshments served. The guests spent a most pleasant evening.

Mrs. Peavish says that Mr. Peavish claimed to be a globe trotter before they were married but he has never got a move on him since.

WILL NOT BUILD PIPE LINE

Washington, Feb. 10.—The Standard oil company will not build its proposed pipe lines from the mid-continent to the gulf, if it has to do so with any attendant obligations to President Roosevelt or Secretary Garfield. This developed in the committee on Indian affairs, when legislation for Oklahoma was under consideration. When the representatives of the oil interests found that the president and secretary of the interior were being consulted in the matter they promptly announced that they would have nothing further to do with the matter.

The Standard Oil company had a lobbyist here and he devoted his attention exclusively to the matter of getting in the Indian bill a provision that would direct the secretary of the interior to do what he flatly refused to do sometime ago, namely, permit the building of pipe lines across Indian lands without it accepting the terms of common carrier, and other conditions giving the secretary control over the pipe line after it is constructed. Some of the members of the Indian committee went to the secretary of the interior and got his consent to this, he saying that congress would then have to assume the responsibility for such action.

The president was also consulted and his consent obtained. As soon as this was learned the oil men who were here pushing the matter, and who admitted that the Standard would be the beneficiary of such legislation withdrew and said they would not press the matter further. The lobbyist representing the Standard left town and the matter was permanently dropped.

The proposed legislation was favored by some members of the Indian committee at last. They understood that the Standard would be the first to take advantage of it, but it did not preclude other companies and would have afforded relief to the oil producers. The members of the committee were greatly surprised at the withdrawal of the proposed clause in the bill.

She is one of the few women on the stage today that possess the following list of good qualities so seldom found in one person, namely: Handsome stage appearance, excellent singing voice and ability to act second to none. She is a close second to the star, Mr. William C. Cushman who is too well known to the public to need any introduction. His ability has gained for him the reputation of being one of the best character singing comedians in the world. All lovers of real good comedy and the finest kind of high class music should secure their seats at once for "The Toy Maker's Dream."

MANUFACTURING OF CEMENT

AND ITS RELATION TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF OKLAHOMA.

Early History of Cement, by L. W. Whitaker Before the Convention at Oklahoma City.

This cement was burned in upright kilns, and a whole battery of these kilns were still standing when I saw them about 2 1/2 years ago.

The first large work to employ Saylor American Portland cement was the Eads jetties along the Mississippi river and the first large building, was the Drexel building of Philadelphia.

From this little beginning, one of the largest industries in the United States has grown—American Portland cement is now superior to any produced in the world.

About 1872 the Eagle Portland Cement Co., of Kalamazoo, Mich., composed of Chicago gentlemen, took form and they produced a good cement from marl and clay. Some of the sidewalks made of this cement are still in use. The mill closed down in 1882, not being able to manufacture at a profit through the falling price was $4.00 to $4.25 per barrel.

At South Bend Ind., a plant was started in 1877 using marl and clay.

In 1883, Robert W. Lesley, the first and present president of the American Portland Cement commenced the manufacture of Portland Cement near Coplay, John W. Eckert was his first chemist, and both of these gentlemen are at present connected with the same company. It was through Mr. Eckert that the proper chemical proportions were secured and a properly combined Portland Cement produced.

Next came the Atlas and Bonzeville plants, followed by the Whitaker, the present Alpha, located near Phillipsburg, N. J. And from this on the business has increased by leaps and bounds. Mills springing up in all sections of the United States.

Composition of Portland Cement.

Certain laws have been developed which govern the chemical as well as the physical properties of Portland cement. The chemical composition of American Portland Cements are confined within narrow limits, the average being:

Silica, 22 per cent
Iron Oxide, 2.5 per cent.
Alumina, 7.5 per cent.
Lime, 62 per cent.
Magnesia, 2.5 per cent.
Sulphur Trioxide, 1.5 per cent.

This cement is the product resulting from grinding to a required fineness, the semi-fused, properly proportioned and properly prepared mixture of argillaceous and calcareous materials.

Portland Cement can be made from many apparently different substances. The lime content can be secured from limestone, chalk, marl, oyster shells, etc., while the silica, iron and alumina can be secured from certain clays, shales, slugs, etc.

In the Lehigh District of Pennsylvania, especially they have what they term Cement Rock in many instances it contains argillaceous and calcareous ingredients in exact proportions, without any other addition.

Manufacture of Portland Cement.

Two principal methods are used for the manufacture of Portland Cement, the wet and the dry process, and to a small extent, the semi-dry process. The wet process usually employs marl for the lime content and a blue clay for their Silica, from and alumina contents.

The marl, dug frequently by means of a dredge, and after separating the foreign substances, the clay, sometimes dry and sometimes wet is added and then mixed together through a pug mill or other device, and on to certain correction tanks and during the process is finely pulverized in tube mills.

This substance is called slurry and usually contains 60 to 65 per cent of water, this amount being necessary to permit the slurry to be readily pumped and handled, and is now ready to be fed into the kilns. From now on until reaching the finished product all methods have the same object in view.

The semi-wet advocate dries their material first then add a quantity of water to the mix, obtaining the resulting mixture is more uniform than the Dry Process.

The dry process is the most general, and the one used by the largest Portland Cement plants in the United States.

This process requires the rock to be broken down by crushers or other devices, granulated and then mixed with the proper proportions of clay or shale, which has already been dried, and this mixture in the most up to date plants, is made by weighing, then finely pulverized, and the mixing continues after the material is fed into the kilns and really continues until the chemical action has taken place.

Right here I wish to say the finer the raw material is pulverized and the better they are mixed, the better the resultant cement.

The rotary kiln is universally used having driven the upright kiln out of existence, giving a more uniform result, and greater capacity.

Rotary kilns vary greatly in size; only a few years ago I well remember seeing a kiln 19 feet long, a wonder; then came the 60 ft. by 6 ft. diameter kiln, and now the average size of those installed during the past two years will be about 7 or 8 feet in diameter by 100 feet in length. These kilns are lined throughout with fire brick and carried on heavy trunnions, and are caused to rotate during the process; being placed in an inclined position of say 1-4 to 3-4 inch per foot. The kiln speed varies according to the individual idea of the operators, from about 1-3 revolutions per minute to 1 revolution.

The rotating of the kiln which is nothing but a tube, causes the material to gradually travel from the feed end, the higher end, on through to the discharge end. And in doing so it comes in contact with intense heat some 2700 degrees Fahrenheit, this temperature varies, according to the chemical composition of the raw material, all other conditions being equal.

The temperature required is secured by forcing pulverized coal into the kiln as means of an under pressure, the coal is partly burned into a gas and creates intense heat. Others use fuel oil, and in a limited area, natural gas I know of no plant at present using Producer Gas.

The heat you will notice, travels in the opposite direction to the material being burned, the zone of greatest heat being from 10 to 20 feet from front or fire end of kiln.

It may be of interest right here to state that nearly 40 per cent by actual weight of the raw material, which enters at the feed end, is lost during transit through the kiln, in the form of gases and dust.

The chemical action on raw material by this intense heat produces what we term, clinker. This clinker leaves the kiln very hot and is cooled by several processes; when cooled, its color is a greenish black, and the specific gravity has changed in the raw material from about 2.70 to 3.20 for the clinker.

The clinker is now broken down by several processes to final pulverization, which gives us the finished product, Portland Cement, and according to specifications, 92 per cent must pass through the 100 mesh sieve and 75 per cent through the 200 mesh sieve.

(Wires for 100 mesh—0045 in. diameter.)
(Wires for 200 mesh—0024 in. diameter.)

It is a conceded fact by all the best authorities and proven by tests which any individual user of Portland cement can make himself, that the finer the cement is ground, the better the resulting cement will be for actual work.

The tendency during the past 10 years in the United States has been to grind a finer product, and today there are a few plants grinding so fine that 85 per cent of the cement will pass a 200 mesh sieve, giving the users of these finely ground cements the equivalent of 38 pounds of material, possessing cementing qualities, over cement ground to 75 per cent through 200 mesh sieve.

Development of Oklahoma.

Oklahoma, being the youngest of all the states, has a great advantage over the older states in many respects, especially since Portland Cement has made such wonderful strides.

The railroads, which are the arteries of commerce throughout the width and breadth of this new state, can be built safer, the bridges made everlasting, and once a culvert or bridge is properly built of Portland cement concrete, the ponderous locomotive with its precious load of human lives is rushed along over these concrete bridges with the same speed and safety as when running across the open prairie.

Each farmer in this broad land spends, yes uselessly wastes, money each year that would soon make him independent. Why don't he use everlasting fence posts, concrete storm and root collars, and why don't he build concrete silos? These are needed by our farmers and each step adds to the individual and collective wealth. And there is no better way a state can secure great influence. And each and every city and town have now at their command, for both present and future building requirements, the most flexible, permanent and last of all the most fireproof building material, Portland Cement Concrete, this fact having been fully demonstrated in the great conflagrations of Baltimore and San Francisco and the universal use of concrete in the rebuilding of these cities is further evidence of the faith had in this building material.

Our cities can be held together by means of cement, our sidewalks, curbs gutters and streets be of solid concrete, while our fireproof buildings rear their heads far above the street.

And in close proximity to these cities and town using cement we usually find and always within the borders of our new state, the materials required for any class of concrete, sand, stone gravel etc., as well as the Portland Cement. All these being found and used within our borders the use of these creates a local demand for skilled and unskilled labor. This means added wealth by keeping the money home instead of sending it elsewhere. This thought has been clearly stated by Prof. Gould who says, "One nation is a good deal of money, but this is the estimated amount that the people of Oklahoma sent to Kansas last year for two products that might just as well be manufactured at home.

These two products are pressed brick and Portland Cement—"No wonder the Kansas banks are full of deposits and taxes are about one-half as much as in Oklahoma." We send our good money to Kansas for things we might as well make at home, and then wonder why taxes are so high.

Now in order to build up our state why should we not use our own product as much as possible, it being understood they are the equal of any. I dare say there are thousands of citizens of Oklahoma who do not know their own state has two modern Portland Cement plants in operation—well you have—and with ample capacity to supply the entire requirements of our state.

And to the Oklahoma users of Portland cement here assembled allow me to impress upon you one vital point. On you rests the greater part of this task of building our state on a firm and everlasting foundation—may you make no mistakes, as our new state forges ahead, every step in advancement will be watched by others and soon we will have the greatest state in the union.

BLIZZARD BLOCKS BUSINESS

Trains Tied Up for Three Days—Great Damage Done.

Norfolk, Neb., Feb. 10.—Traffic and all business in northern Nebraska, South Dakota, the Black Hills and northern Wyoming, was abandoned from Monday night until noon today because of the worst blizzard of 20 years. The snowfall, which amounted to four inches in Norfolk, increased westward into the Black Hills and Wyoming, where it reached 10 inches on the level.

A 40 to 50-mile wind drifted the snow many feet deep in many places. Temperatures ranged from 4 to 20 below zero. Telegraph and telephone lines all over this territory were prostrated. Not a train wheel moved on any of the five lines radiating from this city, nor over this entire territory, 700 miles across, between midnight Monday night and 6 o'clock this morning. The first time in 20 years.

Norfolk daily paper on account of the weather was forced to abandon its edition for the day.

Near Plainville, Herman Taylor, a prominent stockman, became exhausted while caring for his herd and perished from exposure. Many cattle froze to death en route to market.

Congressman McGuire Still Opposes.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The democratic members of the Oklahoma delegation held a meeting this morning and resolved to push the bill recently introduced to close up the affairs of the Five Tribes. Mr. McGuire, the only republican member of the delegation, still refuses to support the bill. In any event there is no chance that this measure will pass at this session.

GAS STOVES ARE THE CAUSE

Particulars of Death of Senator Johnson—O. A. Smith's Life also Endangered.

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 10.—As a result of a leaky gas stove in their sleeping apartments, Dr. George O. Johnson of Fort Cobb one of the most popular members of the Oklahoma state senate, is dead, and Senator P. J. Yeager of Tulsa, who occupied the room with him is in a serious condition from the toxic effect of the gas fumes.

The senators occupied a room in a home on East Noble avenue. It was Senator Yeager's custom to arise about 6 o'clock every morning light the gas in a heater and return to bed until the apartment became warm. This morning he did so, but in turning the valve to adjust the blaze it is presumed he turned it out and then on part way again, not sufficiently, however, to then attract attention and believing it was still lighted he crawled between the covers for another nap.

The natural gas under heavy pressure poured into the room. Senator Yeager quickly fell asleep only to be aroused about an hour later by groans from Senator Johnson, who was rapidly yielding to the gas poison. Somewhat dazed, Senator Yeager staggered from his bed and attempted to get fresh air by raising a window. Then, reaching the door and being unable to unlock it, hammered with his hands until other occupants of the house burst it open.

The two men were carried into the open air, where Senator Yeager was restored, but Senator Johnson failed to respond and expired about 9:15. Physicians pronounced death due to asphyxiation.

Senator Yeager's fever years is believed to have saved him from death.

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 10.—O. A. Smith, an official in the State School land department was found in his room yesterday morning suffering from gas poisoning and a short time later would have been beyond aid. Mr. Smith had lighted a gas stove to

SHAWNEE GETS COUNTY SEAT

Shawnee, Ok., Feb. 10.—Shawnee today won the county seat of Pottawatomie county from Tecumseh in the fiercest struggle yet recorded in Oklahoma. Almost 8,000 votes were cast.

The law requires 60 per cent of the entire vote to remove the county seat. A feature of the campaign was the presence of a squad of detectives hired by Tecumseh to watch the campaign managers at Shawnee. Fifty-one voting precincts were attended by representatives of both cities.

For more than a month meetings have been held nightly in at least twenty places in the county.

Numerous fights, but no bloodshed, resulted. Today every business house in both towns closed to enable the employees to get out other voters. Tonight Shawnee is celebrating her victory with street parades and public meetings.

OKLAHOMA CENTRAL IS READY

Willing to Build Into Ada and Suggests a Plan to Do So.

Dorset Carter, chief executive officer of the Oklahoma Central railroad, writes Mayor Harrison as follows, relative to that road entering Ada and providing terminals.

While the Oklahoma Central is willing to come into Ada the plan proposed, leaves it up to the citizens here to advance the money for that purpose.

Mr. Geo. A. Harrison, Mayor, Ada, Oklahoma, Dear Sir:—I am today in receipt of copy of complaint filed before the Corporation Commission of Oklahoma on behalf of the city of Ada against the Oklahoma Central Railway company.

The substance of this complaint is you ask the commission to compel us to build a line of road into your city; you don't know how anxious we are to comply with your request and wish we were financially able to do so. As to the action of the corporation commission—we have no fears but what you will be unsuccessful in your efforts and they will sustain a demurrer to your petition but, regardless of that, I wish to assure you we would like very much to enter your city.

I have intended to come down to talk to you gentlemen along a feasible proposition by which we might build into the city, provided, it was accepted by you. It would take about fifteen thousand dollars for us to build into your city, establish terminals, depot, etc., and I believe we could get the Federal court to authorize the receiver to issue certificates, bearing six per cent interest for this purpose which would constitute a first lien upon the line built and which would be payable on freight originating, or destined, to your city, that is taking for instance the cement plant would agree to take twenty-five hundred dollars in these certificates. If, after the line was constructed, they should tender us freight or we deliver them freight we would accept these certificates in payment of that freight for the portion of the freight which our road earned and likewise with any other party in the city who might purchase these certificates; we would make the certificates in any denomination satisfactory to you people and they would be transferable by delivery. It seems to me this would be a safe proposition to you people and judging from the amount of business your city does, if shippers were so disposed, money could be collected back from us within ninety days time after road put into operation.

Yours truly,
DORSET CARTER,
Chief Executive Officer.

WANT BATTLESHIP OKLAHOMA.

Navy Boys on Ohio Ask That the Request Be Made.

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 10.—Proud of the state from which they hail, and wanting that state the youngest honored by having one of the new and powerful battleships to be built by Uncle Sam, enlisted for her, W. B. Hornbeck, on behalf of himself and eight other Oklahoma boys aboard the United States ship Ohio now with the big fleet on its cruise around the world, has written to local newspapers that with which to do your business the first consideration is the character and standing of its officers and directors and the financial resources of the Bank.

Sacramento, Feb. 10.—Yielding to the pressure brought to bear by President Roosevelt and Governor Gillett, the California assembly retired from its previous position on the anti-Japanese matters today, reconsidering the former vote on the segregation of Japanese students in the public school and finally rejected the measure by a vote of 41 to 37. An effort by the supporters of the bill further to reconsider, was lost by a tie vote and the assembly is now clear of any anti-Japanese measure objected to by the national administration.

EASTERN GULLIBILITY.

Several Eastern newspapers, invariably republican in politics or under false colors serving the interests, assume that Governor Haskell's indictment at Muskogee is equivalent to proven guilt and do not neglect to convey the impression that Oklahoma's chief executive is rolling in ill-gotten wealth.

The readiness with which such insinuations are accepted for truth is causing western faith in eastern intelligence to wane. Eastern gullibility has, in fact, been proven during the last two years by the eagerness with which the most extravagant stories relative to Oklahoma and its public men have been absorbed as gospel truth. It were laughable if it were not so regrettable.

Governor Haskell does not look the frenzied financier, the industrial pirate or the prosperous land shark, that the eastern press is representing, or insinuating, him to be. His residence quarters are not palatial; like Thomas Jefferson on his journeys to and from the capital are after the manner of the humblest citizen, his apparel is no better and no worse than that of the ordinary physician, barrister or minister, he does not wear the flashy attire and the sparkling diamonds which are popularly associated with the men whose exploitations secure to them a rich harvest of "other people's money." Indeed, his daily life is characterized by simplicity and lack of ostentation, while his personal habits are without reproach.

Such is a brief and truthful word picture of C. N. Haskell, governor of the grand new state of Oklahoma, whose character the millionaire proprietor of a New York newspaper and the president of the United States are attempting to destroy from partisan vindictiveness. It is not entirely out of the range of possibility that Governor Haskell is all that his political enemies would have the public believe, but in his daily life he does not act the role and the people of Oklahoma do not believe that he is other than that which he appears to be.

PRESS COMMENT.

Who says that divorce cases are not popular when 1,000 people struggled to get into the Lemp divorce case at St. Louis.—Ardmoreite.

It may be and it may not be that ammunition and supplies are being placed on the Pacific Coast. One thing is certain, however, after our experience in the trouble with Spain these things ought to be in readiness for use without any vexations and possibly costly delays.—Democrat Herald.

Now that an issue of Lincoln stamps has been authorized to familiarize the people with his looks wouldn't it be a good idea to provide a little more popular medium of circulating the features of Andrew Jackson than the $10,000 bill? It has been two or three days since we have seen one of these.—McAlester News-Capital.

There is a bill before the senate to repeal the tax ferret law. We know nothing about the bill of this law, but we do know that every man and corporation should give in their entire taxable property for taxes, and if it takes a ferret to find this property, we should have one.—Durant News.

The ruling passion was strong in the eighty-year-old negro man who was killed at Jeffersonville, Ohio, Sunday night about ten o'clock by a passing freight train. A sack containing live chickens found near the spot told the tale of his incursion into the night and into the barnyard.—Muskogee Times-Democrat.

STATE CAPITAL LETTER.

Guthrie, Feb. 11.—State Auditor M. E. Trapp is issuing his annual report in printed form. The volume shows a detailed account of the financial transactions of the state and its every department and concludes with the usual estimates from each department on the necessary appropriations to cover running expenses for the biennial period ending June 30th, 1911, and for deficiencies for the period ending June 30th, 1909. These estimates are based on expenditures for the past year.

Supposed to Be It's Death Knell.

Washington, Feb. 10.—A joint resolution offered by Senator Beveridge providing that the postmaster general should establish a rural parcels post system in four counties of some state, as an experiment, caused the general plan for a parcels post to get a severe jolt today. This experiment was expected to be an opening wedge for a general parcels post system, if it proved success. When the resolution was read it was ordered to lie upon the table. This is the senatorial way of preaching a funeral over documents.

PRAYER AND PRAISE.

Concerning the Patience of the Saints.

We mourn sometimes because we grow slowly in the Christian life—that our faith and love and patience are so feeble. But channel-beds are deepened merely by the flow of the waters through them, and even so just trusting God today as we did yesterday, just meeting this week's cares with the quietude we exercised last week, just going on in the ordinary way, is really deepening our knowledge of God and our faith in Him.

We ask for the marvelous, the seen. Some of the things for which we pray we are sure can never come to pass without miracle. Yet, as a rule, God's answers to our petitions come in quiet, unexpected ways, without bluster of apparent wonder-working. Highest processes are apt to be noiseless, best results unperceived in their approach. We grow naturally, as plants and children grow naturally, by just taking what comes day by day and thinking little about growth, by bearing this little burden, learning that little lesson, by absorbing light and love and air hour by hour in the measure it is allotted to us. And the end? It will be nothing less than the miraculous for which we longed, when we awake some day in His likeness—we who have been such common clay, molded by such common processes and under such common-place circumstances.

No choice positions were ours. The kitchen, the nursery, the school-room, the sick-chamber, the workshop—these were the places where we took form and shape; in these the Master Sculptor found His studio. At times we felt the touch of chisel and mallet, and the hurt, but we could not stop to mourn or to complain. Baby had to be fed, mother must be helped, the invalid made happy—the dress, the hat, must be finished for the customer. And so with headache, and sometimes heartache, we wrought on, not knowing that our patient steps and lullabies and stitches, the gay little speeches and trills we so determinedly cultivated, were helping to mould the common clay of our common lives into a form like unto that of the Son of God.

What surprises await us! For we shall all get out of the common-place some time. There's a chance waiting to bear each of us to the King's presence-chamber some day. And then when we look into His face—forgetful of the failures and details of the days forever done—a sense of Home-coming, of having at last reached our own, will fill us, overflow us. "We shall awake" from earth-day dreaming to find ourselves—"ourselves"—in His likeness satisfied.

Oh the soundless depths of that word, "satisfied." No earth-tongued tongue has yet been able to give in full music or meaning, untranslatable and unutterable here, none of us have realized what it is to be "satisfied." Nor do we need to know—yet, it is not out. But today is ours. We must wrestle with its actualities, bear its burdens, accept what it brings us. For all that comes is sent and, therefore, necessary to the development of a son, a daughter of God. Herein lies the Patience of the Saints.

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores of Ada Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidney's duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Urinary trouble, diabetes.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. Ada people endorse our claim.

William Tolson, Okla. Ave. and E. First St., Sulphur, Okla., says:

"About two years ago my kidneys became disordered. The kidney secretions were unnatural and irregular in passage and this coupled with backache, made me miserable. A few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. I have had occasional backaches since due to exposure to all kinds of weather but a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to dispel my trouble. By experience I have found that this remedy is one that can always be relied upon to give relief."

Charged With Grand Larceny.

Wright Bros. of Ada bought some corn from D. C. Shell. When most of it was delivered it is claimed by Shell that he was sick and unable to look after the weighing and delivering of the corn.

Wright Bros. have had Shell arrested charged with grand larceny and in a preliminary examination today before Esq. Nettles. Shell was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $250. He has not yet made the bond.

It seems that Shell did not have any witnesses to substantiate his contentions about the deal.

Delightful Entertainments.

Yesterday evening Mrs. R. S. Tobin entertained the Forty-two club in honor of her mother Mrs. E. J. Mitchell and sister, Miss Vada Mitchell, of Greenville, Texas.

The rooms of Mrs. Tobin's home were beautifully decorated with hearts and evergreens.

During the evening delicious refreshments were served.

A most enjoyable time was had by the large number present as Mrs. Tobin is a charming hostess.

Last night, Mrs. Tobin also entertained the 500 club at which cards were played and refreshments served. The guests spent a most pleasant evening.

Mrs. Peavish says that Mr. Peavish claimed to be a globe trotter before they were married but he has never got a move on him since.

WILL NOT BUILD PIPE LINE

Washington, Feb. 10.—The Standard oil company will not build its proposed pipe lines from the mid-continent to the gulf, if it has to do so with any attendant obligations to President Roosevelt or Secretary Garfield. This developed in the committee on Indian affairs, when legislation for Oklahoma was under consideration. When the representatives of the oil interests found that the president and secretary of the interior were being consulted in the matter they promptly announced that they would have nothing further to do with the matter.

The Standard Oil company had a lobbyist here and he devoted his attention exclusively to the matter of getting in the Indian bill a provision that would direct the secretary of the interior to do what he flatly refused to do sometime ago, namely, permit the building of pipe lines across Indian lands without its accepting the terms of common carrier, and other conditions giving the secretary control over the pipe line after it is constructed. Some of the members of the Indian committee went to the secretary of the interior and got his consent to this, he saying that congress would then have to assume the responsibility for such action.

The president was also consulted and his consent obtained. As soon as this was learned the oil men who were here pushing the matter, and who admitted that the Standard would be the beneficiary of such legislation withdrew and said they would not press the matter further. The lobbyist representing the Standard left town and the matter was permanently dropped.

The proposed legislation was favored by some members of the Indian committee at last. They understood that the Standard would be the first to take advantage of it, but it did not preclude other companies and would have afforded relief to the oil producers. The members of the committee were greatly surprised at the withdrawal of the proposed clause in the bill.

MUSICAL EVENT OF SEASON

Manager W. H. Parks wishes to announce to the theatre going public of Ada that he has secured for one performance, Saturday night, Feb. 13, at the opera house a high class semi-operative production, "The Toy Maker's Dream" an adoption from the German that is one of the very few shows on the road today that is a guaranteed attraction, not like the ordinary class of shows this is composed of artists of national reputation and among its members numbers such well known people as Miss Louise St. Claire who has been with many New York successes and has been in the employ of the Charles Frohman forces for past four seasons. She is one of the few women on the stage today that possess the following list of good qualities so seldom found in one person, namely: Handsome stage appearance, excellent singing voice and ability to act second to none. She is a close second to the star, Mr. William C. Cushman who is too well known to the public to need any introduction. His ability has gained for him the reputation of being one of the best character singing comedians in the world. All lovers of real good comedy and the finest kind of high class music should secure their seats at once for "The Toy Maker's Dream."

clay for their Silica, from and alumina contents.

The marl, dug frequently by means of a dredge, and after separating the foreign substances, the clay, sometimes dry and sometimes wet is added and then mixed together through a pug mill or other device, and on to certain correction tanks and during the process is finely pulverized in tube mills.

This substance is called slurry and usually contains 60 to 65 per cent of water, the amount being necessary to permit the slurry to be readily pumped and handled, and is now ready to be fed into the kilns. From now on until reaching the finished product all methods have the same object in view.

The semi-wet advocate dry their material first then add a quantity of water to the mix, obtaining the resulting mixture is more uniform than the Dry Process.

The dry process is the most general, and the one used by the largest Portland Cement plants in the United States.

This process requires the rock to be broken down by crushers or other devices, granulated and then mixed with the proper proportions of silica or shale, which has already been dried, and this mixture in the most up to date plants, is made by weight, then finely pulverized, and the mixing continues after the material is fed into the kilns and really continues until the chemical action has taken place.

Right here I wish to say the finer the raw material is pulverized and the better they are mixed, the better the resultant cement.

The rotary kiln is universally used having driven the upright kiln out of existence, giving a more uniform result, and greater capacity.

Rotary kilns vary greatly in size; only a few years ago I well remember seeing a kiln 10 feet long, a wonder; then came the 60 ft. by 6 ft. diameter kiln, and now the average size of those installed during the past two years will be about 7 or 8 feet in diameter by 100 feet in length. These kilns are lined throughout with fire brick and carried on heavy trunnions, and are caused to rotate during the process; being placed in an inclined position of say 1-4 to 3-4 inch per foot. The kiln speed varies according to the individual idea of the operators, from about 1-3 revolutions per minute to 1 revolution.

The rotating of the kiln which is nothing but a tube, causes the material to gradually travel from the feed end, the higher end, on through to the discharge end. And in doing so it comes in contact with intense heat some 2700 degrees Fahrenheit, this temperature varies, according to the chemical composition of the raw material, all other conditions being equal.

The temperature required is secured by forcing pulverized coal into the kiln by means of air under pressure, the coal is only turned into a gas and creates intense heat. Others use fuel oil, and in a limited area, natural gas I know of no plant at present using Producer gas.

The heat you will notice, travels in the opposite direction to the material being heated, the zone of greatest heat being from 10 to 20 feet from front or fire end of kiln.

It may be of interest right here to state that nearly 40 per cent by actual weight of the raw material, which enters at the feed end, is lost during transit through the kiln, in the form of gases and dust.

The chemical action on raw material by this intense heat produces what we term, clinker. This clinker leaves the kiln very hot and is cooled by several processes; when cooled, its color is a greenish black, and the specific gravity has changed in the raw material from about 2.70 to 3.20 for the clinker.

The clinker is now broken down by several processes to final pulverization, which gives us the finished product, Portland Cement, and according to specifications, 92 per cent must pass through the 100 mesh sieve and 75 per cent through the 200 mesh sieve.

(Wires for 100 mesh—0045 in. diameter.)
(Wires for 200 mesh—0024 in. diameter.)

It is a conceded fact by all the best authorities and proven by tests which any individual user of Portland cement can make himself, that the finer the cement is ground, the better the resulting cement will be for actual work.

The tendency during the past 10 years in the United States has been to grind a finer product, and today there are a few plants grinding so fine that 85 per cent of the cement will pass a 200 mesh sieve, giving the users of these finely ground cements the equivalent of 38 pounds of material, possessing cementing qualities, over cement ground to 75 per cent through 200 mesh sieve.

Development of Oklahoma.
Oklahoma, being the youngest of all the states, has a great advantage over the older states in many respects, especially since Portland Cement has made such wonderful strides.

The railroads, which are the arteries of commerce throughout the width and breadth of this new state, can be built safer, the bridges made everlasting, and once a culvert or bridge is properly built of Portland cement concrete, the ponderous locomotive with its precious load of human lives is rushed along over these concrete bridges with the same speed and safety as when running across the open prairie.

Each farmer in this broad land spends, yes uselessly wastes, money each year that would soon make him independent. Why don't he use everlasting fence posts, concrete storm and root cellars, and why don't he build concrete silos? These are needed by our farmers and each step adds to the individual and collective wealth. And there is no better way a state can secure great influence. And each and every city and town have now at their command, for both present and future building requirements, the most flexible, permanent and best of all the most fireproof building material, Portland Cement Concrete. This fact having been fully demonstrated in the great conflagrations of Baltimore and San Francisco and the universal use of concrete in the rebuilding of these cities is further evidence of the faith had in this building material.

Our cities can be held together by means of cement, our sidewalks, curbs, gutters and streets be of solid concrete, while our fireproof buildings rear their heads far above the street.

And in close proximity to these cities and town using cement we usually find and always within the borders of our new state, the materials required for any class of concrete, sand, stone gravel etc., as well as the Portland Cement. All these being found and used within our borders the use of these creates a local demand for skilled and unskilled labor. This means added wealth by keeping the money home instead of sending it elsewhere. This thought has been

and much more easy to take care of—affording you ease and comfort at the same time—is an investment in one of our many real estate bargains in cottages in the suburbs of Ada or city homes, farm lands, etc., which we are selling at such low prices and on easy terms.

Let Us Show You Hardin & Blanks

Office Ada National Bank Building.

Clearly stated by Prof. Gould who says, "One million is a good deal of money, but this is the estimated amount that the people of Oklahoma sent to Kansas last year for two products that might just as well be manufactured at home.

These two products are pressed brick and Portland Cement. "No wonder the Kansas banks are full of deposits and taxes are about one-half as much as in Oklahoma." We send our good money to Kansas for things we might as well make at home, and then wonder why taxes are so high.

Now in order to build up our state why should we not use our own product as much as possible, it being understood they are the equal of any.

I dare say there are thousands of citizens of Oklahoma who do not know their own state has two modern Portland Cement plants in operation—well you have—and with ample capacity to supply the entire requirements of our state.

And to the Oklahoma users of Portland cement here assembled allow me to impress upon you one vital point. On you rests the greater part of this task of building our state on a firm and everlasting foundation—may you make no mistakes, as our new state forges ahead, every step in advancement will be watched by others and soon we will have the greatest state in the union.
